

Heading to the Gallery!

Today is the _____ we are being _____ in the gallery _____.

(Noun)

(Past Verb)

(Noun)

There's a lot of _____ in the air, and I have been _____

(Noun)

(Verb -ing)

away with my friends the _____ ever since we _____.

(Plural Noun)

(Past Verb)

I have _____ that this _____ is all about my _____ home.

(Past Verb)

(Noun)

(Adjective)

And there are even more of my old _____ and _____ here to help

(Plural Noun)

(Noun)

tell the _____.

(Noun)

Along with the _____, there is one of Judy's _____, like me, she is

(Plural Noun)

(Plural Noun)

just her _____ now, her _____ body and dress have long since

(Noun)

(Adjective)

_____ in the ground.

(Past Verb)

There are also _____, _____, a button from the doctor's

(Plural Noun)

(Plural Noun)

_____ and some of the _____ they used to use.

(Noun)

(Plural Noun)

The Collections Manager _____ picks me up in her _____

(Adverb)

(Adjective)

hands and _____ me, marbles, and doll on a _____ cart. Then

(Verb)

(Adjective)

she _____ pushes us through the _____ and out into the

(Adverb)

(Noun)

gallery to the _____ area.

(Noun)

READ ME LAST!

Heading to The Gallery!

Today is the day we are being installed in the gallery exhibit. There's a lot of excitement in the air, and I have been chattering away with my friends the marbles ever since we woke up. I have learned that this exhibit is all about my old home. And there are even more of my old friends and family here to help tell the story. Along with the marbles, there is one of Judy's dolls, like me, she is just her head now, her cotton body and dress have long since decayed in the ground. There are also plates, cutlery, a button from the doctor's waistcoat and some of the coins they used to use. The collections manager carefully picks me up in her white-gloved hands and places me, marbles, and doll on a small cart. Then she slowly pushes us through the lab and out into the gallery to the exhibit area.